ITALIAN BLUE GEM COAL CO., Newcomb, Tenn. - Campbell County.

Peter Zechini acquired this mine in 1903, and worked 200 miners until 1907. Several mines listed Peter Zechini as owner up to 1935. He also served as store manager for all his holdings until 1929, changing names frequently as he did with his Italian Blue Gem Coal Co. in 1908. After 1929, Mrs. Cappelli was listed as the Company Store for all Zechini operations.

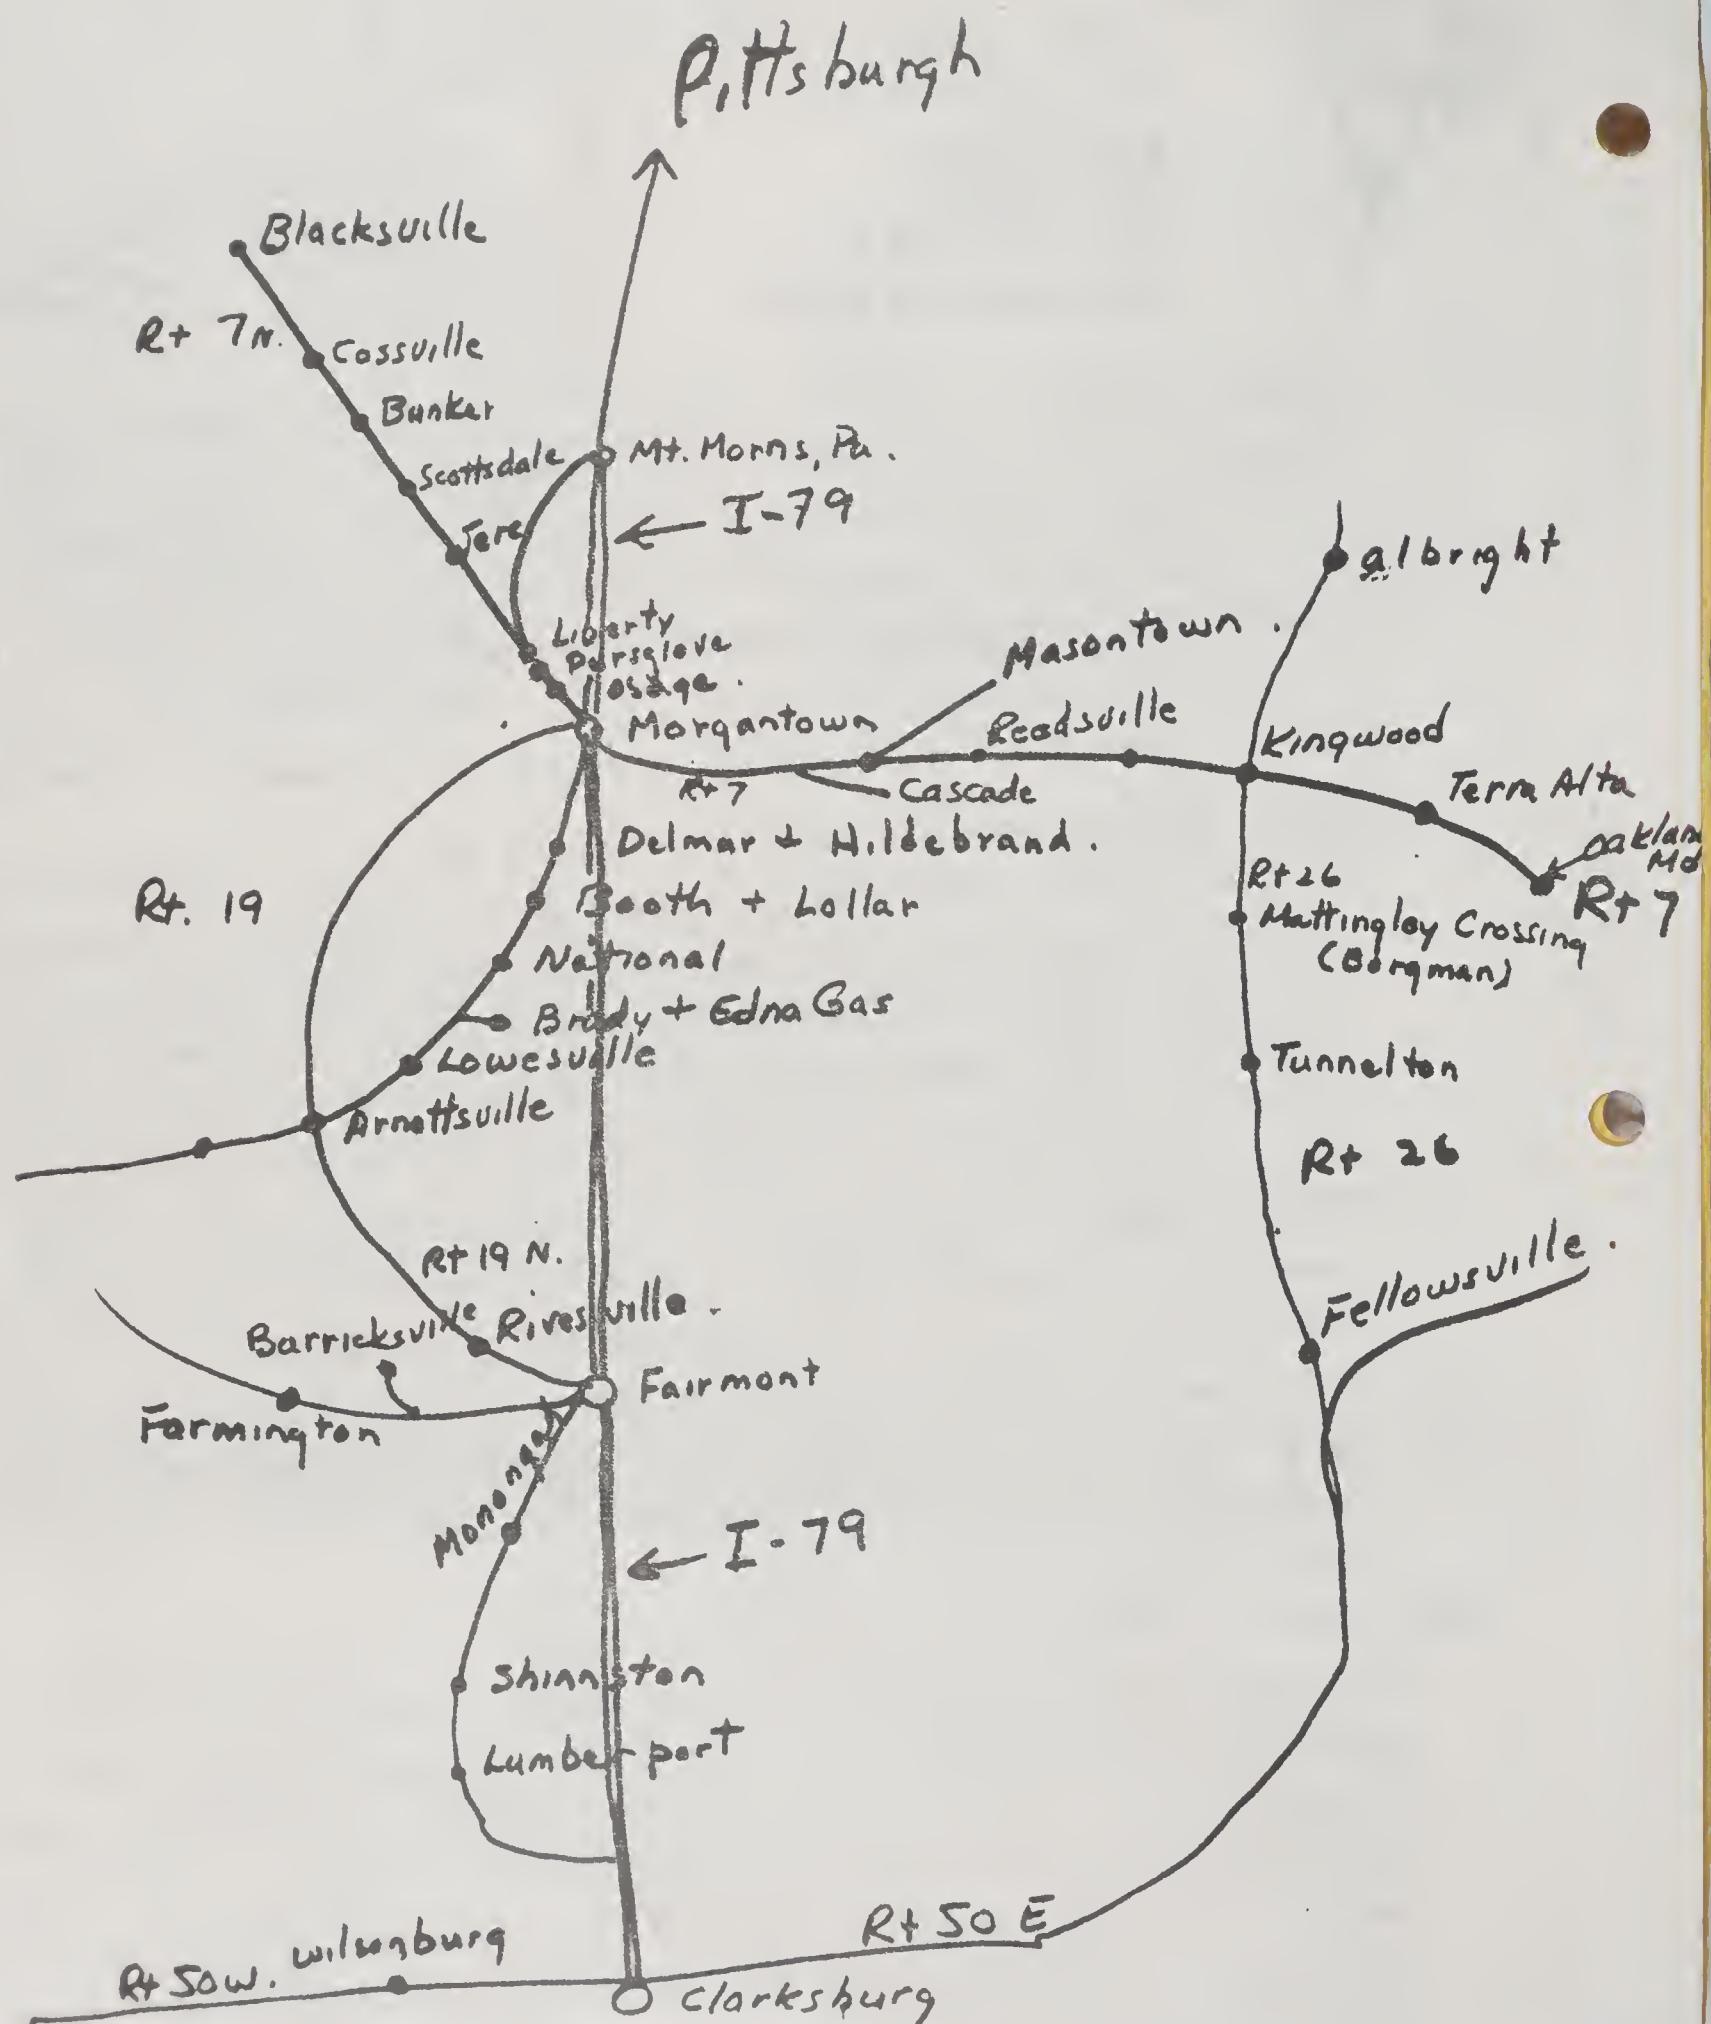

BLOSSBURG COAL CO., Arnot, Pa. - Tioga County. This Company is listed in the 1888 Pennsylvania Annual Report of Mines, as having four mines at Arnot, Pa., and this could be the vintage of this black vulcanite token. However, this Company operated from 1903 until 1923 with 525 employees. In 1924, W. A. MAY of Scranton, the president sold to the Peabody Coal Co.

KILSYTH STORE, Kilsyth, W. Va. - Fayette County., was the company store for MCKELL COAL & COKE CO. from 1903 until 1930. John D. McKell and his father William McKell of Chillicothe, Ohio operated 3 mines in Fayette and Raleigh Counties employing 660 miners. W. H. Stephenson was the store manager of the Kilsyth store. The New River Company purchased all properties in 1930.

WAR EAGLE SUPPLY CO., War Eagle, W. Va. - Mingo County.

A. H. Moore, who founded the War Eagle Supply Co. in 1903 opened three mines this same year in War Eagle, W. Va. They were: - PAPPOSE COAL CO. employing 160 was absorbed by the WAR EAGLE COAL CO., employing 200 in 1907. This mine then operated until 1919, when all operations of War Eagle ceased. The MARGARET MINING CO. employing 100 closed in 1915.

H. A. SHAFFER COAL CO., not owned by A. H. Moore, used the War Eagle Supply Co. as a company store from 1906 until 1907. So, the little copper token picturing an eagle, served 4 coal companies employing 410 men from 1903 until 1919.

Coal mine scrip from northern West Virginia is slowly coming upon the scene. The above printed map of the area will enable all you "scriphunters" to know exactly where the various old mines were located. We believe that many, many more coal tokens from this area will become available once a special effort is made to hunt them down....

QUESTIONS - ANSWERS

CRAIGO

4461-A Washington St. W.
Charleston, WV 25312

Q. Where was the Victory Supply Company scrip used? There was some confusion in the mind of the writer due to the fact that The Victory Supply Co. operated a store at Tunnelton, W. Va., for The Victory Coal Co. Also, a collector had earlier noted that the scrip was used here. The fact that the scrip had Maidsville stamped on the obverse was bypassed, stating that this was the company's main office.

A. Collector Harold Lee reports that the store was located on Rosedale Hill, near Maidsville. A Monongalia County map, vintage 1933, shows that the store was also near the town of Rosedale, just a little beyond the mouth of Robinson Run. Orco records show that the main office of the ordering concern was at Pursglove, showing a possible relationship with the Pursglove interests. Lee will check this further. Dodrill's book reveals that the commissary served the Rosedale Coal Co. Lee noted that the store was owned by Joseph and Antoinette Mascoli, with Mrs. Mascoli's brother Lewis Pellgren being the store manager. The store later became the National Victory Supply Co., at which time it moved to Maidsville. At this date, the store for NVSC was owned by Gaspar Enrico. He was a Morgantown coal operator. Whether the store at Tunnelton used any metal scrip is unknown... Lee will investigate. Mr. Lee also passed on info about other Morgantown commissaries. The James Supply Co. (scrip had James Store Co. on face) was located between Lowesville and Arnettville. Paul Marra was manager of the store which served workers of the Fort Grand Mining Company. The writer has a complete set of this scarce coal scrip. Harold is delving into the background of the Morgantown Gas Coal Co., of which I have the only complete set of scrip. He reports that the store for this mining company was located between Jere and Cassville, in Monongalia County. I have an old Valley Camp Coal Co. (who owned Morgantown Gas Coal Co.) brochure and a magazine story clipping which had the location in Marion County, across the river from Scottsdale coal camp. Mining records also show the coal company in Marion County. It's possible that the store had two locations, one earlier in Marion County and a later one near Morgantown. Harold also cleared up the use of "5" and "G" counterstamps on the Edna Gas Coal Co. scrip, with the statement that it was used by Gill and Pellgren Supply Co. Gill was Monongalia County sheriff when he and Pellgren bought the company store operated by Jamison Coal & Coke Co. at Brady. At this time, the Jamison's closed out their ownership of the Edna Gas mine. National Victory scrip, with a "B" counterstamp, was used at the Bunker Supply Co. store. Pellgren was manager of both National Victory and Bunker Supply stores. The Bunker scrip had become scarce, so Pellgren substituted NVSC tokens.

Q. Collector Jensen wants to know the location of the L. E. Little (IS-09) and J. M. Hignite (IS-14) mavericks.

A. The R. G. Dun mercantile reference book shows the location of the Little token as Richmond, Indiana, not far from Dayton, O. Perhaps one of Scrip Talk's readers can tell us where the Hignite store was located. The writer checked Ohio, Indiana and Western Kentucky towns without success.

Q. How is the compilation of Ingle System mavericks coming along?, asks collector Bill Fowler of Texas.

A. We're still adding to the list, which now has some 700 tokens. Yours truly has identified about 115 of same. Any help that Scrip Talk readers can give will be appreciated, either on I. D.'s or more mavericks. Perhaps a listing of the ones not known could be printed in Scrip Talk. Let us know your wishes. By the way, I'll gladly purchase or trade for these mavericks to help along the study.

We'll wind up this Q & A section with some thoughts on the oldest known coal token as discussed in the last issue of Scrip Talk. Walt notes that the Pioneer Coal Co. tokens might well fit the bill. My research also reveals that this scrip was probably struck in the 1870's, when Pioneer had leased a large acreage of coal on Dry Branch fork of Campbell's Creek. Evidently, earlier operations had been concentrated on salt production. Paper scrip earlier than this date is known for two states: West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Others are more than likely existing for some other states. Virginia began mining coal in the early 1700's and Pa. had its Western coal mining beginning in 1759. Possibilities of even earlier paper or metal scrip for these states exist. The Virginia mining was near Richmond, while the Pa. coal operations were at and near Pittsburgh. Both of these towns had large industrial complexes and could have produced scrip for coal mines.

Collector Steinle reported after her visit to a coin show in Philadelphia rather startling news that the Lorena Furnace token had been sold for $660 in the Cunningham auction and that later it again changed hands for a reported $1,000. Fill us in on this, Paul.. You'd better hold on to the oldie but goodie tokens for future sale. Who'd ever thought that a salt token would have commanded such a price! I've continued my search into salt records to determine the date of purchase of these tokens. The best bet is still that they were made around 1872. I'm about 95% sure now that this is true due to the fact that the sixth and final Salt Company ended about 1866. One of the clauses in these various Kanawha Salt Company agreements was that the individual furnaces not operate a general store... This was left to the main firm of Ruffner, Donnally & Co. We're still trying to come up with the John P. Hale record books since he was the person who owned the companies which used the said tokens. More later...

TO THE EDITOR

AS TIME AND SPACE PERMITS.... From BILL WILLIAMS, Tenn. -"I will be out of town until July 10. Will forward info on the new NSCA membership contest after that date".... From JAMES R. COOPER, Ky. - "Following is list of Scriptors that attended Tri-State Scrip Show at Middlesbor, Ky. in April - Jerome Schaeper, Jr., M & M R. R. Tippy, Mrs. Don Twinkle Treece, Mr. Lloyd Bunch, Mr. J. Burley Williams, Mr. Geo. Breeding, M & M James R. Cooper, Mr. Crawford Blakeman, M & M W. E. Williams, Mr. Winfred Campbell, M & M Jack F. Sharp, Mr. Lowell Howard, Mr. James Russell, Dr. N. S. Guy, and Mr. Steve Cawood.".... From R. R. TIPPY, Tenn. "Regards Fall 1978 Meeting, have written confirmation from Holiday Inn, Corbin, Ky. Will have additional info for bulletin shortly. Please let me have schedule of publication dates.".... (Will have a bulletin out about the middle of September - will probably be the only one before October meeting in Corbin.).... From SARA FALLS, Pikeville College, Ky. "Have heard from two of your Board members - Cole Cuttle and R. R. Tippy - volunteering donations of coal scrip along with some received from Bill Long. Am working on a small gift to be presented to all alumni who make donations to our school and will use the coal tokens in connection with the gift.".... From RICH HARTZOG: "Walt, I strongly protest the ruling to limit ads to coal tokens only. NSCA is having enough trouble retaining members without cutting out those with marginal coal interests, like myself. By the way, a Civil War token (PA785A1a) sold for $1,840.00 in my last sale." ... (Rich is making reference to the decision of the NSCA Board to limit the free ads to coal related items along with lumber... In view of this letter and several others, the Board will no doubt take another look at this at the Corbin meeting.).... From JOHN FLISS: Al Zaika will start the national advertising campaign soon for the remaining copies of the Edkins' book. With everything clear and paid on the publication of the first edition, we will have a good fund available for the revision or supplement from the sale of the remaining copies.. The Printers in Virginia will mail half of the remaining books to you and half to me so that additional orders can be handled promptly as they come in.".... From CINDY GRELLMAN, Ala. -"I will be in Houston for the ANA. Do you think it would be worth our while to have a supply of NSCA membership brochures there to pass out to prospects?" (Certainly do and I plan to take a bunch with me for distribution.).... From STEPHEN ALBUM, Calif. - "I decided to run a blurb for the NSCA in the Ledger, publication of the Western States, soliciting new members, and offering to sign their application forms. Let's see if anything comes of it.".... (Thanks, Stephen, and we need lots of membership help from all our members if we are to continue our growth status.)....

THE SYSTEM DIESINKERS

INGLE-SCHIERLOH "DOUBLED DIES" BY: SCRIPTOR DAVID GLADFELTER

One of my main interests in token collecting is the token manufacturing companies (diesinkers) and their minting methods.

"System" scrip fits in very well with this interest because every piece of system scrip has the diesinker's name stamped on the back. (Editor's note: There are many exceptions to this, however, this will not distract from Dave's very fine article.) Every system token can be immediately identified as to which company made the token.

It probably won't be long before coal scrip collectors begin to study the different reverse dies that we now identify simply as "Orco-2", "MM2", etc. Probably several collectors are already making lists of the different system stock reverse dies, and we will soon have descriptions and plates of them. "Orco-2", for example, is one of the most common reverse die types, and I have already identified a number of different varieties of Orco-2 in my small 150 piece collection.

From time to time as I learn interesting facts about the system diesinkers, I will send in articles about them, and I hope other Scriptors will do the same. To begin, here is an article about the Ingle-Schierloh "doubled dies". Most collectors have heard about the 1955 Lincoln Cent "double die", a popular U. S. coin that is more expensive than rare.

There are probably many collectors like myself who would like to have a "doubled die" but don't want to pay the price for the Lincoln cent variety. Well, cheer up! There are at least two "doubled dies" in the coal scrip series, and both of them are Rarity 1 items everyone can afford. These are the Winding Gulf Coals and Leevale Collieries five cent tokens - Edkins Nos. WV 3061E5 and WV 1597C5, respectively.

Both of these pieces have an "ISC2" type reverse die. They are both 23mm and round, and both have "DES. PAT." and "IN MDSE. ONLY".

The most obvious doubling is on the Winding Gulf piece. Doubling can be seen with the naked eye on the large "5". A magnifying glass shows doubling on all the letters and devices, including the dentils around the rim.

When I noticed this on the Winding Gulf piece, I looked for other ISC2 nickels to see if they had doubling also. The only other ISC2 nickel I had that was 23mm round with "DES. PAT." and "IN MDSE. ONLY" was the Leevale piece. This one has doubling, too, but not as noticeable as on the Winding Gulf piece. The clearest evidence of it can be seen in the dentils around the rim.

The two reverses appear identical to me in every respect, except for the doubling.

Since doubling results from double punching in the process of making the die, I conclude that the two reverses are from different dies -- the Winding Gulf piece from a die with very heavy doubling, and the Leevale piece from a die with only light doubling.

The old fashioned way of cutting dies for coinage was for the engraver to hand-cut everything. Later, they used punches for letters and hubs (relief designs on blocks of metal) for portraits and other art work. Finally, the entire design, letters and all, was placed on a master hub, which would be used to sink a number of working dies, each one exactly identical.

Since these two ISC2 reverse dies appear exactly identical except for the doubling, I conclude that Ingle-Schierloh Co. used master hubs to make these particular reverses.

Osborne (ORCO), on the other hand, probably hand-engraved their reverses, because the tokens show differences in the dies, at least on the Orco 2 types. According to the "Scriptident Chart", Orco 2 was used in the 1930-38 period.

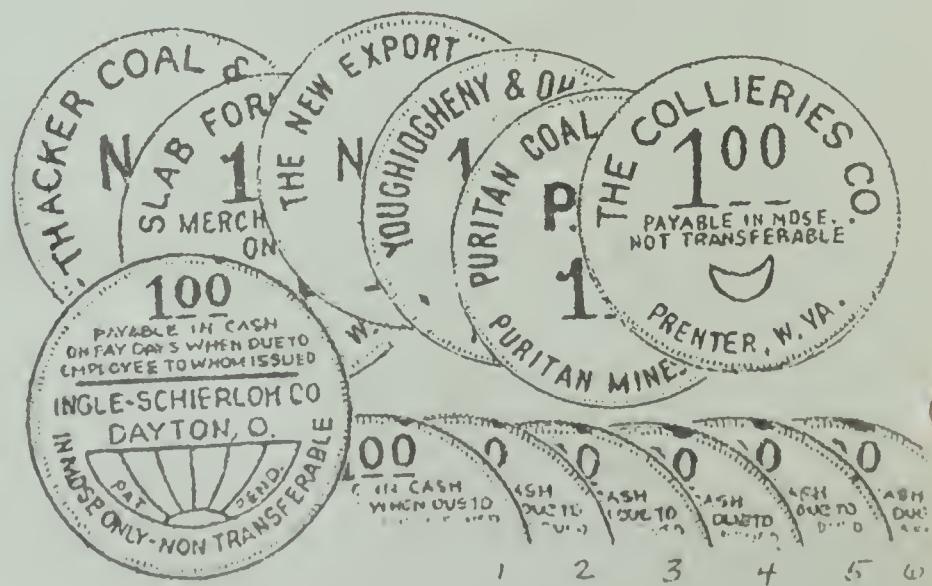

The Orco 4's appear to come from master hubs, however, except for one feature, the date, which appears to have been punched in separately. Orco 4 was used from 1939 to 1958.

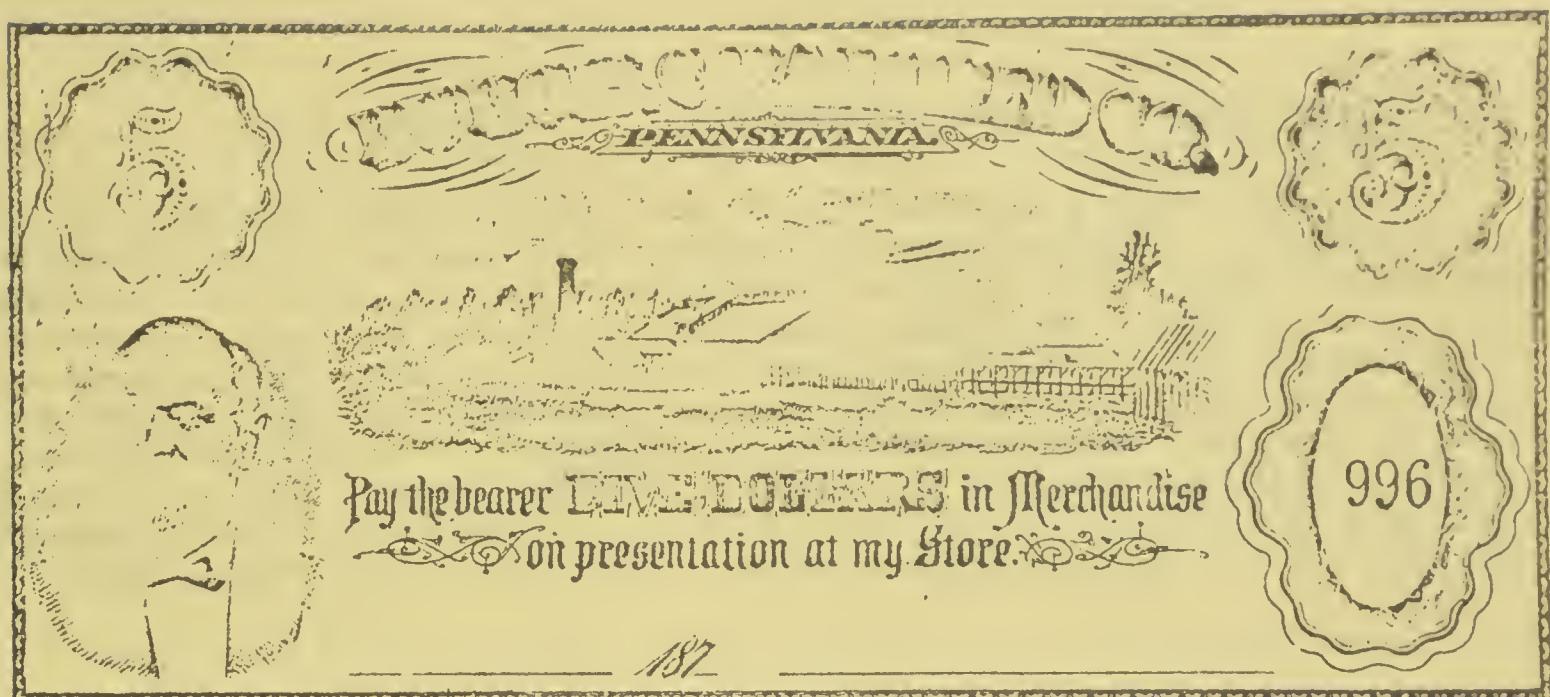

Since the ISC2 dies were in use from 1928 to 1958, it's hard to tell whether Ingle Schierloh or Osborne was the first to switch from punching and hand-engraving to master hubbing of their dies. If Ingle Schierloh was master-hubbing before 1939, they would have led the way, with Osborne following.

Let's get out the magnifying glasses !!

DIEBREAKS: Reprinted from the December 1970 "Scrip Talk" and noting a study of diebreaks by Scriptor Gordon Dodrill. The dates shown indicate the years the six companies operated. The use of the "broken" die indicates that the particular company ordered ISC1 scrip in the 1930-31 time period. As will be noted, the die in use developed a bigger break as tokens of these particular companies were made.

1. Thacker Coal & Coke Co. 1914-1930
2. Slab Fork Coal Company 1930-1934
3. New Export Coal Co. 1920-1930
4. Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal 1931-1953
5. Puritan Coal Corp. 1931-1939
6. The Collieries Co. 1931-1932

DU_BOIS CLEARFIELD COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA - BY: SCRIPTOR THOMAS SHOOK

John DuBois was born near Owego, New York, on March 3, 1809. His ancestors were French and arrived in America in 1634. His father was a farmer, and built a sawmill when John was sixteen years old. At the age of seventeen, he made his first trip down the North Branch of the Susquehanna River on a raft in company with his father, and soon he was given the charge of running and selling lumber for his father. Later on he formed a partnership with his brothers, leasing their father's sawmill. He next joined with his brother David and located a mill twenty miles from Williamsport, Pa. on the W. P. & Elmore Railroad. The first location was impractical and they found another on the same stream. A younger brother, Matthias, joined the firm. In 1848 David died. John and Matthias continued the business for ten years and during that time they bought about ten thousand acres of land. They also bought one hundred acres in the city of Williamsport, about thirty two thousand acres in Claerfield County, and some eight hundred acres in Armstrong Township, Lycoming County, the latter for the purpose of securing rights for the Susquehanna boom and sites for saw mills. Matthias soon died and a partnership formed with another man was unsatisfactory and came to a close in 1863.

His next venture was the erection of a mill at DuBoistown on the Susquehanna River opposite Williamsport. Shortly after this he started a mill at Havre de Grace, Maryland. He sold the Williamsport mill with some other real estate and boom stock for ninety thousand dollars, bought another mill near the one he had sold, and soon erected another mill with a number of tenant houses.

His mills had a sawing capacity of about one hundred and fifty thousand feet per day. Finally he sold some of his property in Lycoming County and began to improve his property in what was to become the town of DuBois, Pa. At the time there were just two farmhouses and a blacksmith shop within the present borough limits.

He erected his first sawmill in DuBois in 1873. It was a circular mill and was destroyed by fire in 1880, but was rebuilt. His gang mill was built in 1875, and in 1881 the box factory was erected. In 1876 he erected a machine shop and foundry. In 1878-79 the hotel was built, then a mill used exclusively for cutting hemlock, then he built his own Opera House. Finally, he went into the tannery business with the Van Tassel brothers.

The above comprises the principle industries and gives a fair idea of the active life of John DuBois. He also held the patents on a number of inventions that he used in his mills. Shortly before he died, he deeded all of his property to his nephew, John E. DuBois to insure continuance of the business without interruption. John E. DuBois was known, according to his advertisements, as a manufacturer of White Pine

J. E. DU BOIS

BY: THOMAS SHOOK

Mr. DuBois, having "put his hand to the plow" could not turn back. In order to see himself through, he issued a currency of his own, which later became known as "DuBois Scrip". This scrip was an order on his store, issued in denominations of 5 cents to $5.00. He established a bi-weekly payday and Tuesday was known as 'scrip day' at which time his employees would receive their previous weeks wages in scrip. At the end of the month, whatever was owing was paid in legal currency. This was the first weekly payday to be established in this section of Pennsylvania, and Mr. DuBois may have been the pioneer of weekly paydays. This scrip bought as much as a gold dollar. His prices were no higher than those of other merchants in the town and for the same grade of goods. Mr. DuBois died on May 6, 1886.

CONTEST WINNER :: Scriptor Darrell Crotty guessed that Lot No. 71 would bring $107.75 thus he wins the FIVE sets of FREE tokens in Sale No. 49... YOU can be a winner !! Guess the Lot Number and the closest price in Sale No. 50 and win FIVE sets of tokens !! Just place the Lot Number and the guess on price to be paid on the bottom of your bid sheet !! If no correct Lot number is guessed, the prize will be continued to the following sale !!

SPECIAL NOTE :: Because of vacations, the ANA convention, and personal business matters, the next issue of SCRIP TALK will be delayed somewhat !! The last issue mailed was the JULY issue - the SEPTEMBER issue should be coming to you late in August if all goes well !! Thus, the next sale will be Number 50 and it will be featuring a fabulous collection of The New River Company sets PLUS other exciting coal and lumber tokens! Watch for your SCRIP TALK bulletin late in August and good hunting !!
